Gyanvapi row: Hearing in SC, Varanasi court today

NEW DELHI, MAY 18

The Supreme Court of India to begin hearing on Gyanvapi Mosque row on Thursday as the report of survey also likely to be submitted. Meanwhile an application has been filed in the Varanasi Court to demolish the wall beside Wuzu Khana, where a 'Shivling' was allegedly found. According to lawyer Vishnu Shankar Jain, who is representing the Hindu side, the demolition of the wall has been demanded to allow the parties to go further inside the Mosque premises. The matter has been listed for hearing on Thursday,

"The court ordered to remove Advocate Commissioner Ajay Mishra for hiring a private cameraman and leaking the contents of the survey. Further, we filed an application for the demolition of the wall beside the wuzu khana so that we can enter further. The court will hear the matter today," said

On Monday, May 16, the videographic survey of the Mosque premises concluded. At the end of the survey, an application was filed by the Hindu side informing the court that a 'Shivling' was found inside the Wuzu Khana - the pond where Muslims perform their ritual cleansing before offering Namaz. After listening to the plea, Varanasi's Civil Judge (Senior Division) Ravi Kumar Diwakar directed that the spot be sealed.

Apart from the hearing on the Wuzu Khana, another crucial application slated for hearing is the Hindu side's plea to reappoint ousted court commissioner Ajay Mishra. On Tuesday, the Varanasi court removed advocate Ajay Mishra as commissioner of the Gyanvapi survey on grounds of alleged non-cooperation and charges of 'leaking' sensitive information pertaining to the confidential survey to the media. It also gave two more days to the commission to submit the survey and appointed advocate Vishal Singh in his place. Meanwhile, an application has been filed in Varanasi court to demolish the wall beside wazukhana where a Shivling is claimed to be found during the survey of the Gyanvapi Mosque premises, said lawyer Vishnu Shankar Jain, representing the Hindu side on Wednesday. # Pb okays Rs. 1500 per acre incentive for farmers adopting DSR technology

BUREAU CHANDIGARH, MAY 18:

In a major step aimed at conserving scarce natural resources like underground water through Direct Seeding of Rice (DSR) technology, the Punjab Cabinet led by Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Wednesday approved Rs. 1500 per acre incentive to the farmers for sowing of paddy through this innovative technology. A sum of Rs.450 crore has been earmarked to provide incentive to the farmers for promotion of less water consuming and cost effective DSR technology. This step would be instrumental to save nearly about 15-20 percent water as compared to the conventional puddling (kaddu) method during the life cycle of crops. Pertinently, the alarming situation arisen out of fast depleting ground water mainly due to water guzzling traditional method of paddy transplantation needs bold measures to check this serious trend instantly. Currently the water table is falling at rate of 86 cm per year leading to a precarious situation, where no underground water will be available across the state in coming 15-20 years. According to a spokesperson of the Chief Minister's Office, it will encourage majority of farmers to adopt this proven technique which needs far less water for irrigation, improves percolation, reduces dependence on farm labour and improves soil

Indrani Mukerjea gets bail by SC in Sheena Bora murder case

NEW DELHI, MAY 18

The Supreme Court on Wednesday granted bail to Indrani Mukerjea, the prime accused in the murder of her daughter Sheena Bora, saying that six-and-a-half years years in prison is too long a term and that the trial will not be completed anytime soon. A three-judge bench headed by Justice L Nageswara Rao noted that Indrani Mukerjea has been in jail since 2015, and said the trial is not going to be completed anytime soon as out of 237 witnesses cited by prosecution only 68 have been examined till date.

The petitioner is charged with kidnapping with an intention to murder her daughter after entering into a criminal conspiracy. The petitioner is wife of Peter Mukerjea, who is co accused in the case. The allegation made against the petitioner is that she planned the murder in view of the live in relationship of her daughter with Rahul Mukerjea, who is the son of Peter Mukerjea through his earlier wife," the bench said.

"We do not intend to make com-six-and-a-half-years and even if 50 per cent witnesses are given by prosecution, the trial would not be over soon, we are of the considered view that the petitioner is entitled to be re-ments on the merits of the case as it might be detrimental to the interests of the parties. Taking into account

Gujarat: Hardik Patel resigns from Congress

AHMEDABAD, MAY 18

Gujarat Congress Committee working president Hardik Patel, who recently expressed discontentment with the state party leadership, on Wednesday resigned from Congress.

Taking to Twitter, Patel d "Today I took the to resign from the post (Gujarat Congress Committee working president) and primary membership of the Congress Party. I am sure that my decision will be welcomed by all my colleagues and the people of Gujarat. I believe that after this step, I will be able to work truly for Gujarat

Earlier, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi reached out to disgruntled Gujarat Congress Committee working president Hardik Patel to sort out differences in the party unit ahead of state assembly polls, sources

Party sources had claimed that Rahul Gandhi himself sent ing him to continue in the party. He also asked the party in charge and other leaders to reach out to Patel to sort out the differences. Speculations were rife about Patel joining the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) after he had lauded the BJP government for revoking Article 370 and the construction of Ram Mandir.

Delhi Lt Guv Anil Baijal resigns citing "Personal Reasons"

AGENCY NEW DELHI, MAY 18

The centre's representative to the capital, Delhi Lieutenant Governor Anil Baijal, has submitted his resignation to President Ram Nath Kovind citing "personal reasons", sources told on Wednesday. A retired civil servant, Mr Baijal had taken over as Lieutenant Governor in December 2016 following the abrupt resignation of his predecessor Najeeb Jung. The role of Lieutenant Governor had been at the heart of an all-out power tussle between Delhi's Aam Aadmi

Party (AAP) government and the BJP, which rules at the centre, for years until a landmark

Supreme Court judgement in 2018 that spelled out their powers more clearly. The Lieutenant Governor does not have independent decisionmaking powers and the real power must lie with the elected government, the Supreme Court had ruled in a big win for Mr Kejriwal in the years-long fight for control of Delhi. The top court emphasized that except for anything related to land, police and public order, the Lt Governor has no independent decision-making powers under the

Apex Court orders release of Rajiv Gandhi assassination case convict A G Perarivalan

NEW DELHI, MAY 18

Invoking its extraordinary power under Article 142 of the Constitution, the Supreme Court Wednesday ordered the release of A G Perarivalan, who has served over 30 years in jail in the Rajiv Gandhi assassination case.

A bench headed by Justice L Nageswara Rao said the Tamil Nadu state cabinet's advice recommending the premature release of all seven convicts in the case was binding on the governor.

The apex court also discarded the Centre's argument that the president exclusively has the power to grant pardon in a case under section 302 the Indian Penal Code, saying this would render article 161 (power of governor to grant pardon) functionless.

The bench, also comprising Justice B R Gavai, held that states have the power to advise and aid the governor in case of pleas of pardon under article 161 made by convicts in murder cases.

Article 142 of the Constitution deals with the Supreme Court's power to exercise its jurisdiction and pass order for doing complete justice in any cause or matter pending before it. The article was also used in the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid land dispute case.

The Centre had earlier defended the Tamil Nadu governor's decision to send the mercy plea of Perarivalan to the president. Additional Solicitor General K M Nataraj had said that only the president can decide the plea regarding remission, commutation and mercy plea of an individual convicted under the central law. On March 9, the top court had granted bail to Perarivalan while taking note of his long incarceration and no history of complaints.

Govt encourages farmers for crop diversification: CM

CHANDIGARH, MAY 18:

Despite attaining a huge feat in industrial development, Haryana is primarily an agricultural state. Majority of the population is engaged in agriculture in the state. And by understanding this fact, the state government leaves no stone unturned to provide best of the facilities and incentives to the farmers, so that the comprehensive development in the state can be ensured. There are copious initiatives that have been taken by Haryana Government under the direction of Chief Minister, Sh Manohar Lal to ensure that farmers get maximum benefits through many first-of-their-kind initiatives introduced in agriculture sec-

Among these initiatives, Haryana Government is giving big boost to conserve water in the state by launching an effective technique for paddy growers. Direct Seeded Rice (DSR) is centive-driven push which has been introduced as a pilot project by the state government, recently to promote water conservation. A cash incentive of ?4,000 per acre is offered to the farmers under the scheme. Farmers of 12 paddy growing districts of Haryana under the watch of agriculture and farmers' welfare department's experts will grow paddy through this technique during the current paddy cultivation season. Growing rice by sowing the seed is already prevalent in few riceproducing pockets of Haryana. The government is promoting this alternative way of cultivating rice to ensure that water conservation movement gets a boost in the state and farmers also get benefit through this.

The Government has decided that farmers opting for this cost-effective and less water-consuming method of

?4,000 per acre. Each farmer scheme can grow the crop using DSR technique and there is no limitation of acreage (area) for them to register for incentive. The traditional paddy transplantation practice is labour and water intensive, while DSR doesn't require labour and water of the size and scale of the traditional method and can reduce water consumption and production cost by 15-20 per cent. Chief Minister, Sh Manohar Lal on this scheme, said, "It's another new and unique initiative in the state to give incentive and support to thousands of farmers who earn their bread and butter through paddy cultivation. This will not only provide them a cost effective method but also fetch them the desired exposure and education about the new techniques to strengthen their practices.'

9th International Art of Giving Day celebrated

BHUBANESWAR, MAY 18

India along with several countries across the world on May 17 celebrated the 9th anniversary of Art of Giving (AOG), a noble and pious initiative of Prof. Achyuta Samanta to promote an equitable and harmonious relationship in the society. The theme of this year's celebration was hopeharmony- happiness, with Prof Samanta disclosing moves to propose to the United Nationsto proclaim May 17 as the Art of Giving The AOG has transformed into a people's movement, bringing hope and happiness to millions, especially those living on the margins of society. "Our objective is to spread the message of peace and happiness. We want to make it a universally accepted belief through the UN proclamation, the Founder said. He remained optimistic that the 10th anniversary of AOG next year will be celebrated as a proclaimedday, much like how the world celebrates June 21 as UN proclaimed International Yoga Day. society irrespective of caste,

For greater choice

University Grants Commission notified guidelines empowering students in higher education to pursue two academic programmes simultaneously. They can now study for two degrees/diplomas concurrently as full-time-regular students or in the open and distance learning mode, or one in full-time-regular and the other in the ODL mode. They would be able to take the two programmes in the same or in different higher education institutions. The only rider would be that this privilege would not apply retrospectively. Additionally, the ODL programme must be done from institutions that are recognized by the UGC, Statutory Councils and the Government of India.

The UGC has been guided in this decision by the National Education Policy 2020, which emphasizes on multiple pathways to learning through formal and non-formal modes. It believes that the move would promote holistic development in students and also enhance multi-disciplinarity.

This notification fulfils the need and the demand of the student community and would end the harassment that students have been facing on this count. Notwithstanding the ban, many students have been enrolling for more than one degrees concurrently, albeit clandestinely. Once caught, they have been subjected to litigations.

The idea was first deliberated in 2013 by a UGC committee headed by this author. Until then, students in higher education were prohibited from pursuing more than one academic programme at a time. A UGC regulation, then and most probably still, argues that all degree programmes must entail a minimum of forty hours workload for students in a week, leaving them little spare time for anything extra.

It was, however, felt that many higher education programmes did not keep students fully engaged, leaving them with spare time that could be used for the pursuit of knowledge. Further, advancements in technology were opening wide-ranging possibilities of acquiring knowledge and skills.

Keeping the pros and cons in mind, the committee had reached the conclusion that while full-time students could not be allowed to pursue another qualification on a regular basis, they could be permitted to acquire additional credits, which would be duly reflected in their transcripts. Barring this caveat, the committee recommended that full-time-regular students could concurrently pursue another degree in the ODL mode, either from the same or another university of their choice.

Targeting schools, Russia bombs the future

s she lay buried under the rubble, her legs broken and eyes blinded by blood and thick clouds of dust, all Inna Levchenko could hear was screams. It was 12:15 pm on March 3, and moments earlier a blast had pulverised the school where she'd taught for 30 years.

Amid relentless bombing, she'd opened School 21 in Chernihiv as a shelter to frightened families. They painted the word children in big, bold letters on the windows, hoping that Russian forces would see it and spare them. The bombs fell anyway.

Though she didn't know it yet, 70 children she'd ordered to shelter in the basement would survive the blast. But at least nine people, including one of her students - a 13-year-old boy - would not.

Why schools? I cannot comprehend their motivation, she said. It is painful to realise how many friends of mine died...and how many children who remained alone without parents, got traumatised. They will remember it all their life and will pass their stories to the next generation.

The Ukrainian government says Russia has shelled more than 1,000 schools, destroying 95. On May 8, a bomb flattened a school in Zaporizhzhia which, like School No 21 in Chernihiv, was being used a shelter. As many as 60 people were feared dead.

Intentionally attacking schools and other civilian infrastructure is a war crime. Experts say wide-scale wreckage can be used as evidence of Russian intent, and to refute claims that schools were simply collateral

But the destruction of hundreds of schools is about more than toppling buildings and maiming bodies, according to experts, to teachers and to others who have survived conflicts in the former Yugoslavia, in Syria and beyond. It hinders a nation's ability to rebound after the fighting stops, injuring entire generations and dashing a country's hope for the future. In the nearly three months since Russia invaded Ukraine, The Associated Press and the PBS series Frontline have independently verified 57 schools that were destroyed or damaged in a manner that indicates a possible war crime. The accounting likely represents just a fraction of potential war crimes committed during the conflict and the list is updated daily. In Chernihiv alone, the city council said only seven of the city's 35 schools were unscathed. Three were reduced to rubble. The International Criminal Court, prosecutors from across the globe and Ukraine's prosecutor general are investigating more than 8,000 reports of potential war crimes in Ukraine involving 500 suspects. Many are accused of aiming deliberately at civilian structures like hospitals, shelters and residential neighbour-

Targeting schools - spaces designed as havens for children to grow, learn and make friends - is particularly harmful, transforming the architecture of childhood into something violent and dangerous: a place that inspires fear. A geography teacher, Elena Kudrik, lay dead on the floor of School 50 in the eastern Ukrainian town of Gorlovka.

Amid the wreckage surrounding her were books and papers, smeared in blood. In the corner, another lifeless body - Elena Ivanova, the assistant headmaster- slumped over in an office chair, a gaping wound torn into

It's a tragedy for us ... It's a tragedy for the children, said school director Sergey But, standing outside the brick building shortly after the attack. Shards of broken glass and rubble were sprayed across the concrete, where smiling children once flew kites and posed for photos with friends.

A few kilometers away, at the Sonechko pre-school in the city of Okhtyrka, a cluster bomb destroyed a kindergarten, killing a child. Outside the entrance, two more bodies lay in pools of blood. Valentina Grusha teaches in Kyiv province, where she has worked for 35 years, most recently as a district administrator and foreign literature instructor. Russian troops invaded her village of Ivankiv just as school officials had begun preparations for war. On Feb 24, Russian forces driving toward Kyiv fatally shot a child and his father there, she said. There was no more schooling, she said. We called all the leaders and stopped instruction because the war started. And then there were 36 days of occupation.

They also shelled and destroyed schools in many nearby villages, she said. Kindergarten buildings were shattered by shrapnel and machine-gun fire.

Despite the widespread damage and destruction to educational infrastructure. war crimes experts say proving an attacking military's intent to target individual schools is difficult. Russian officials deny targeting civilian structures, and local media reports in Russian-held Gorlovka alleged Ukrainian forces trying to recapture the area were to blame for the blast that killed the two teachers there.

But the effects of the destruction are in-disputable. When I start talking to the directors of destroyed and robbed institutions, they are very worried, crying, telling with pain and regret, Grusha said. It's part of their lives. And now the school is a ruin that stands in the center of the village and reminds of those terrible air raids and bombings.

UNICEF communications director Toby Fricker, who is currently in Ukraine, agreed. School is often the heart of the community in many places, and that is so central to everyday life.

Teachers and students who have lived through other conflicts say the destruction of schools in their countries damaged an entire generation. Syrian teacher Abdulkafi Alhambdo still thinks about the children's drawings soaked in blood, littered across the floor of a schoolhouse in Aleppo. It had been attacked during the Civil War there in

The teachers and children had been preparing for an art exhibit featuring student work depicting life during wartime. The blast killed 19 people, including at least 10 children, the AP reported at the time. But it's the survivors who linger in Alhambdo's memory

Pakistani TikToker sets 'forest, internet' on fire

popular Pakistani social media figure with millions of followers is facing severe criticism after posing for a TikTok video of a forest fire.

In 15 seconds video that has gone viral on the internet, TikToker Humaira Asghar can be seen walking playfully in a gown in front of a burning hillside with the caption: "Fire erupts wherever I am."

ceived backlash has since been taken down.

Asghar said in a statement released by an assistant that she did not start the fire and there was "no harm in making videos". "She should have been holding a bucket of water to extinguish the fire instead of glamorising it," says Rina Saeed Khan Satti, an environmental activist and chairperson of the Islamabad Wildlife Management Board, as quoted by Daily Pakistan.

After this video of forest fire emerged, people on the internet were visibly fuming over the violation of environmental norms.

"Sheer ignorance and madness," said one comment under Asghar's video on TikTok. A user on Twitter said, "One can at least block her on social media platforms, if the authorities don't do anything.

Another person said, "Government should make sure that culprits are punished and the TikToker along with the brand should be penalised."

Pakistan is the eighth-most vulnerable country to extreme weather caused by climate change, according to the Global Climate Risk Index. Experts say there is ignorance among the Pakistani population about environmental issues. Forest fires are common from April to July due to high temperatures and slash-and-burn

UK strongly supports' Sweden, Finland joining NATO

The UK government has said it strongly supports the expansion of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) as Sweden and Finland confirmed their intention to apply for membership of the military alliance, in a historic shift of foreign policy stance in the wake of the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

Truss said on Monday evening that the two Nordic countries should be integrated into NATO, which operates on a collective defence basis under which an attack against any one ally is considered as an attack against all allies.

The UK strongly supports applications for NATO membership from Finland and Sweden. They should be integrated into the alliance as soon as possible; their accession will strengthen the collective security of Europe, said Truss. We look forward to working with them as new NATO Allies and stand ready to offer them our every assistance during the accession process. Our mutual security declarations signed with Sweden and Finland last week by the Prime Minister [Boris Johnson] demonstrate our steadfast and unequivocal commitment to both countries during this process and beyond, she said.

During his visit to Stockholm and Helsinki last week. Prime minister Johnson signed bilateral declarations with Sweden and Finland committing to further deepen defence and security partnerships with both countries in the lead up to their full-fledged NATO membership. Downing Street said the declarations marked a stepchange in defence and security, intensifying intelligence sharing, accelerating joint military training, exercising and deployments, and bolstering security across all three countries and northern Europe.

Sweden and Finland have been NATO partners for many years and have taken part in some of the alliance's tough operations. They also make a major contribution to security in the Baltic region, Northern Europe and the rest of the Euro-

Atlantic area. While there was less appetite for a full membership in the past, there is now greater political consensus within the countries to be included formally within the military alliance. It is in response to what is seen as Russia's aggressive stance towards Ukraine, a move that has shaken up European countries in the neighbourhood.

Children's physical activity levels have fallen below guidelines after the pandemic

ccording to a new study led by the University of Bristol, the levthe University of British el of physical activity of British children was significantly lower by the time COVID-19 induced restrictions were lifted.

The findings of the research were published in the 'International Journal of Behavioral Nutrition and Physical Ac-

The study found that by the end of 2021 little more than a third (36%) were meeting the national recommended physical activity guidelines.

While there was no change in their parents' physical activity levels, the National Institute for Health and Care Research-funded study findings showed that 10 to 11-year-olds took part in on average just 56 minutes - less than the recommended hour - of moderate to vigorous-intensity physical activity during weekdays from last April to December. That's around eight minutes on average less, a drop of 13 per cent, than children of a similar age were doing before the pandemic. Senior author Russ Jago, Professor of Physical Activity and Public Health, said: "It was surprising the extent children's physical activity levels had fallen after the pandemic, indicating that changes in physical activity patterns did not revert to previous levels once freedoms had been restored. "These findings highlight a greater need to work with children, families, schools, and communities to maximise the opportunities for children to be physically active, as we emerge from the COVID-19 pandemic." The findings showed children were less active at the weekend than during the week, taking part in 46 minutes of moderate to vigorous physical activity on weekend days. This was around 8 minutes slower than the activity of children who were measured using the same methods pre-pandemic.

The study, published today in the International Journal of Behavioural Nutrition and Physical Activity, also revealed a marked increase in sedentary time, with children spending 25 minutes longer being sedentary per day, than previously during the week.

The National Institute of Health Research-funded study recruited 393 children and their parents, from 23 schools in the Bristol area, who wore an accelerometer to measure the intensity of physical activity and answered a questionnaire. This information was compared with data from 1,296 children and their parents who were recruited from 50 schools in the same area before the pandemic. Physical activity is important for children's health and happiness. The UK Chief Medical Officers (CMOs) recommend all children and young people should take part in an hour of moderate to vigorous physical activity (MVPA) each day. This is an activity that gets children slightly hot, slightly sweaty, and out of breath. The Chief Medical Officers also advise children should limit the amount of time they spend being sedentary. The study's first author Dr Ruth Salway, a Statistician at the university's School for Policy Studies, said: "The key strength of this study was we used data collected before and after the pandemic, using the same methods and in the same

Lack of adherence to treatment significant contributors to the increasing Asthma burden - Dr. Ravneet Grover

Disease (GBD) study has estimated that India is home to over 30 million asthmatics, accounting for 13.09% of the global burden. However, when it comes to mortality, India accounts for over 42% of all global asthma deaths. Despite being a leading cause of morbidity and mortality, the disease continues to be undiagnosed and untreated for years. Populationbased studies done globally, have estimated that 20% to 70% of patients with asthma remain undiagnosed and hence untreated.

The various contributory factors for underdiagnosis and undertreatment of asthma include lack of disease awareness, poor adherence to inhalation therapy, illiteracy, poverty, and social stigma. The patients often overlook their early symptoms which eventually lands them in a more critical condition. According to the Global Asthma Network (GAN) study, 82% of patients with early symptoms and 70% of patients with severe asthma, remain undiagnosed in India. The percentage of adherence to the optimal treatment is also very low among diagnosed patients, with less than 2.5% of patients using daily inhalation therapy.

Citing the GAN study, Dr. Ravneet Grover, Pulmonologist, Medicaid Hospital, Amritsar stressed on the importance of addressing the social stigma towards asthma. "When an asthmatic patient consults a doctor, only 71% of doctors give the diagnosis of "Asthma" as the name of their disease while close to a third(29%) use other terminologies. Also, at the patient level, only 23% asthmatic patients call their disease as asthma. Social stigma associated with asthma and use of inhalers is prevalent. Further, patients barely adhere to medication and mostly take symptom driven treatment. Awareness, Acceptance and Adherence need to be aligned to win against asthma."

Dr. Grover highlighted, "Asthma is considered as a stigma and many patients conceal the disease. It is only when the symptoms aggravate or are intolerable a patient consults a physician and will take the medication that is prescribed. We need to keep reminding patients that Symptom-free is NOT asthma-free. This remains one of the biggest challenges in asthma management. Many patients discontinue using inhalers once they feel better.

This discontinuation often leads to flare up of symptoms which can worsen disease outcomes. Further, incorrect notions such as inhalers being harmful and habit forming also play a role in treatment non-adherence. Hence this needs to be addressed aggressively"

The need of the hour for patients is to gain timely consultation with a physician, which will help him get the right information and diagnosis for his symptoms and start with the right treatment early on. Timely diagnosis is very important to manage asthma. Understand your asthma symptoms and consult your

To be with her beloved Shiv forever. Parvati would re-incarnate as a child called Katvavni who was born to Rishi Katyaan, as a reward for his devotion to goddess Parvati. Sharing her excitement about making her television debut as Devi Katyayani in &TV's Baal Shiv, Trisha Ashish Sarda says, "I am thrilled and feel lucky to be a part of Baal Shiv. I have been a fan of the show and Devi Parvati. So, when I was selected for the role, it made me very happy. I admire Devi's look and now I will get to look like one. I am very excited. have been telling all my friends

tions of Goddess Durga who destroyed Mahishasura by riding on a lion given by goddess Parvati. After being impressed with Sage Katvavan's penance to have a child to protect the sages and deva from demons and devils. Katyayani was born at his ashram. After receiving the goddess's blessing, Devi Katyayani was discovered on lotus petals outside the ashram. Devi Katvavani's personality is completely opposed to Baal Shiv's. Unlike Baal Shiv, who constantly smiles, Devi Katyayani becomes upset and opposes every transgression. While Baal Shiv is calm, merciful, and gives everyone a chance, Devi Katyayani is like Durga as she is kind and harsh in her punishments. Shivling is Katyayani's deity. Trisha Sarda is a fantastic choice for Devi Katyayani, and I'm confident the audience will adore her as much as they have adored our Baal Shiv, played by Aan Tiwari. The track on Devi Katyayani's character will bring a new dimension to the storyline, and I am sure it will intrigue and interest the

City council officials arrive with police force to demolish a staircase

VICKY BHABAT ZIRAKPUR, MAY 18

How helpless the city council officials, who arrived with police force and JCB to demolish a three-foot-wide ladder, are before the present government is evident from the fact that they have not even a week to demolish a 30year-old house. It seems that while investigating the illegal colony being set up at Ward No. 6 in village Kathgarh under Dhakoli area near Panchkula Barrier of Zirakpur, the officials are also dying. Wherever they are, they return with food even after one month of making a complaint. Ajit Pal Singh, a Congress-affiliated Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) member from Kathgarh in Dhakoli, has been accused by his neighbors of illegally constructing mansions without getting a map. Satwant Singh and Sukhwinder Singh of village Kathgarh allege that Ajit Pal Singh is misusing his political power to carry out this construction work which is why the council officials are not taking any action against him. However, he had lodged a written complaint against her with the city council officials a month ago. Not only this, Ajitpal has also been accused of doing politics for his own benefit. When there was a Congress government in Punjab, he was considered close to Deepinder Singh Dhillon, constituency in-charge of the Congress party. During that time he had built Ajit Enclave in Dhakauli area. But as soon as the Aam Aadmi Party government came to power in Punjab and Kuljit Singh Randhawa, who had won from the Aam Aadmi Party in the constituency, became MLA, he gave his support to Kuljit Singh Randhawa. Because he feared that the majority of the Congress party now occupying the Municipal Council Committee would soon fall apart, which could cost him dearly in the future. At present Ajit Pal Singh had built Ajit Enclave near the flyover in Dhakauli but now 7-8 mansions are being built on the other side of the road at a distance of half a kilometer from his ancestral place by registering the land under the same name. The streets of this colony are only fifteen to eighteen feet wide and their maps are not even passed.

Satwant Singh and Sukhwinder Singh alleged that they had lodged several complaints in this regard with the Municipal Council officials and had also lodged a written complaint since last month. But due to political pressure, no action has been taken on his complaint so far. His complaint remained in the papers for one month. He alleged that the building inspector was evading action instead of taking action in the name of checking innocent maps. He also alleged that the registries were conducted in the name of Ajit Enclave while Ajit Enclave was half a kilometer away. Even if it is assumed that they have maps, the maps cannot be passed on such a small scale which proves the utter incompetence of the city council.

The win kept the outfit hot on the heels of Gokulam Kerala FC with both teams on 27 points from nine matches, with the Kerala side taking the top spot by virtue of a greater goal difference.

Even biggest of players can struggle: Ishan Kishan on his below-par IPL season

AGENCY MUMBAI, MAY 18

Ishan Kishan has failed to live up to the most expensive player tag in this IPL but the Mumbai Indians wicketkeeper batter is not unduly worried about his form, saying even the best of cricketers "struggle" at some point.

The 23-year-old was bought by MI for a whopping Rs 15.25 crore at the IPL auction earlier this year. He scored 370 runs from 13 matches at an average of 30.83, with the help of three half-centuries.

He is, though, MI's secondhighest run-getter in this IPL, a fact which showed the woeful form of most batters of the side.

MI were out of the play-offs reckoning long time back after losing eight matches on the trot.

"Even the biggest of players (can struggle), I have seen the likes of Chris Gayle taking time (to start hitting)," Kishan said at the post-match conference after MI lost by three runs to Sunrisers Hyderabad on Tuesday night.

"Every day is a new day, every match is new. Some day, you get a good start, some day, opposition bowlers come prepared and they bowl the balls at good areas.

"The planning inside the dressing room may be different from what the outside people want." He said his role was not about hitting straightaway without analysing the situation of the game.

"In cricket, it can never be sure that you have just one role and I will just go out and hit the ball. If you think about the team, it is more important to understand about your role," Kishan, who scored 43 off 34 balls, said.

"If the opposition bowlers are bowling well you need to give respect to them and if you can save wicket it makes easier for the batters coming later.

"There cannot be just one situation. Some day, you need to go all out when you are chasing a big total, some day, you need to analyse the strength of opposition team whether they have good bowlers to bowl at the death or not, or whether we have to save wickets

Kishan also said that MI could have won the match had Tim

David, who had smashed 46 off just 18 balls with the help of three fours and four sixes down the order, was there till the end.

"Unfortunately, Tim David was run out. If he was till the end, he could have finished the game." SRH head coach Tom Moody said had David's incredible insaid had David's incredible innings not taken the game down to the wire, his side's chances of making the play-offs would have increased on net run rate.

SRH currently sit at eighth spot in IPL standings with 12 points, the same as Kolkata Knight Riders and Punjab Kings, but placed below the two on inferior net run rate. "At the end of the day, you've got to win the game first and that was our priority. We managed to get enough runs ... but (if not for) an extraordinary innings from Tim David, we may have made a bigger impression on our net run rate," Moody said.

Asked whether tearaway pacer Umran Malik is ready for international cricket, Moody said, "Umran is still in a learning curve, he has bowled exceptionally well in this IPL. He had his moments.

"Like any young player who burst on the scene...you need to be measured in your approach. It's a big step up when you are in international cricket. There is no doubt that he will take that path in time, whether that time is in months or more.

Rahul Tripathi 'trying to learn' from every situation

AGENCY MUMBAI MAY 18

After his spectacular knock helped Sunrisers Hyderabad defeat Mumbai Indians, batter Rahul Tripathi said that he enjoyed batting at number three and trying to learn from every situation.

Tripathi's 76-run knock and Umran Malik's three-wicket haul helped Sun-Risers Hyderabad end their five-match losing streak as they beat Mumbai Indians by three runs in a thrilling match at the Wankhede Stadium here on Tuesday.

"I've enjoyed batting at three. It's important that if the openers have given a good start, then continuing that. Or whatever the situation demands I'm trying to learn from that. Bumrah's a great bowler. Was just looking to react to whatever he's bowling. Depends on how the wicket is playing, how I can counterattack at that point. If it's there and I can take it on, I will definitely go for the shot. If it's not there then I'll just look to take those singles-doubles," said Tripathi in a post-match presentation.

"To win games is more important, happy I could do that today. Sometimes when a bowler is bowling well, how to score those runs. In T20 there cannot be a moment where you can slow down. Every ball is an event so I just think what could be the best result. When you play it's obviously your dream to represent your country," he added.

In a 194-run target, MI needed 44 in the last three overs. Tim David hit T Natarajan for four sixes in an over but the left arm pacer had the last laugh dismissing the batter for 46 which came from just 18 balls.

With 19 runs required to win off 12 balls Bhuvneshwar Kumar bowled a wicket maiden over dismissing Sanjay Yadav for a four-ball duck.
